

Partial Annual Report

1990-91

Major tasks of the year

Graduate Program. The preliminary proposal for the Master's program in Women's Studies is now at its final stage and should be submitted to the Dean of Arts & Science shortly. Questionnaires were sent out to students, current and graduate, and to businesses. The results of this survey will soon be available to incorporate in the dossier. Also, letters of support are starting to arrive.

Administration

Faculty. Dr. Chantal Maillé, the Institute's first tenure-track professor, started in August 1990. Dr. Maillé worked on and is involved in feminist movements in Québec and Canada, more specifically with the Fédération des femmes du Québec. She has done her Ph.D. in Political Science at UQAM.

The Dean of Arts & Science approved another 1 1/2 position at the Institute. Dr. Lucie Leguin, who has been affiliated with the Institute for a long time as a part-time lecturer, has been appointed to the joint position shared by the Institute and Etudes françaises.

Dr. Sherene Razack was to be recommended for the other position but the offer came too late; she had already accepted a job at OISE.

A search was carried out for Dr. Razack's position by advertising in the CAUT Bulletin, in University Affairs, and in Women's Studies programs accross Canada. A committee consisting of Susan Hoecker-Drysdale, Chantal Maillé and Maïr Verthuy reviewed the applications, interviewed the candidates and recommended Dr. Kaarina Kailo for appointment. Dr. Kailo has completed her Ph.D. in June 1990 at the Centre for Comparative Literature of the University of Toronto. She has experience in comparative literature, psychoanalysis and semiotics.

Governance. Council meetings were held this year where the routine academic and administrative issues were discussed.

The Dean decided that the Institute's office on the Loyola campus would be moved from HB-103 to AD-130.

Quality of Students. Several students received recognition for their outstanding academic work.

Ms. Debra Aubin, who was the recipient of the Provost Scholarship last year, has been awarded the Segal High School Scholarship. This award is given to a full-time student in any faculty or course year, on the basis of high academic achievement.

Ms. Melody Sweet and Ms. Veronica Graham both shared the Provost Scholarship. This award is given to a first year student.

Ms. Linda Vaudan received the Mair Verthuy Scholarship. This award is given to a student in the Women's Studies program.

Budget. The 1990-91 fiscal year closed with a small deficit. This was due to numerous unplanned events that occurred at the end of the year.
